Jackie Evancho: winning hearts in Britain

GO TALENT already taken America by storm, and now Jackie Evancho is winning hearts in Britain too as the 11-year-old opera singer looks set to have a top five album in the UK after her guest appearance in the final of Britain's Got Talent last week.

Jackie Evancho became an overnight sensation in the UK

The little girl with the big voice, from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, became an overnight sensation in the US after finishing as runner-up on America's Got Talent last year, going on to sell over a million copies of her debut album O Holy Night. And after singing Novena Come on BGT, her album looks set to chart at 10-4 on Tuesday – making her the youngest solo artist to break the top five.

"I was so excited to be in the UK for Britain's Got Talent," says Jackie. "It was my first time in Britain and I was just amazed by everything. For my album to be in the top five is off the hook, it's awesome. Thanks to everyone who bought it!"
